DEATH TO EDUCATOR

HEART DISEASE IS FATAL TO C. A. HAWKINS.

TEACHER SINCE 1883

End Comes Suddenly to Former Maryville Superintendent, 15 Years on College Faculty.

Charles A. Hawkins, former superintendent of Maryville schools, instructor of Latin at the State Teachers College and a teacher and administrator in Nodaway county schools since 1883, died at the St. Francis hospital at 7 o'clock last night of angina pectoris.

"Don't tell the boys; I'll be all right tomorrow," were the last words Mr. Hawkins said to his niece, Miss Laura Hawkins, when she left him at 6 o'clock last night at the hospital. He was resting easily and felt much better.

After Miss Hawkins left, his physician called and found Mr. Hawkins resting well. The physician barely had reached home when he was recalled to the hospital. Mr. Hawkins had died.

"I spent a miserable night," were Mr. Hawkins' first words when he appeared at breakfast yesterday morning. But he had spent many miserable nights and he went to school and conducted his 9 and 10 o'clock classes and would have taught his third class, but he was too ill.

Ordered to Hospital.

He went to the doctor's office and the doctor ordered him to the hospital at once.

"I'll take you," the physician offered.

"No you won't," Mr. Hawkins replied. He called a car and went home, collected the articles he desired to take and went to the hospital.

Just before leaving the house for the hospital he managed to get to the telephone and called Miss Nell Hudson at the college, asking her to post a notice that he would not meet his classes so that his students might not have to go to class to learn that he would not be present.

Mr. Hawkins' very close friend, T. H. Cook, arrived at the hospital to see him just a moment after Mr. Hawkins had died.

"He looked as if he were asleep," Mr. Cook told Miss Hawkins.

Born in Illinois.

Mr. Hawkins was born in Hancock County, Illinois, near Carthage, July 24, 1860, the son of Edward W. and Lucinda M. (Elden) Hawkins, both natives of Kentucky. In 1869 the family came to Maryville, locating on a farm two miles north of this city.

Mr. Hawkins remained on the home farm until he was 17, having been 11 years old at the time of his father's death. He attended the public schools in Maryville, the Academy and the Normal at Stanberry, also Drake University at Des Moines. He was an ambitious lad and studied hard, making a splendid record for scholarship. Fitting himself for a teacher, he began his life work at the age of twenty-one, and attended school the next three years. He taught country schools continuously in Nodaway County for four years; he taught eight years in Hopkins.

In 1895 Mr. Hawkins came to Maryville as principal of the high school. Before that time he very successfully discharged the duties of the office of county school commissioner for a period of three years, while principal of the Hopkins schools, and he completed his four-year term after leaving Hopkins. He was principal of the Maryville high school for seven and one half years and in January, 1904, was made superintendent of the public schools.

To College Faculty in 1913.

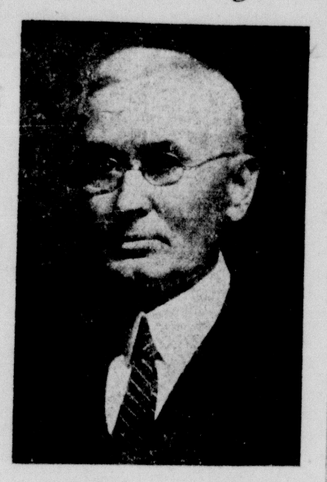
In 1913, he became a member of the faculty of the State Teachers College.

Mr. Hawkins was active in the movement which resulted in procuring the State Teachers College. For many years he was a member of the Carnegie Library board here.

He was a member of the Christian church and also a member of the Woodmen of the World. For years he was secretary of the Northwest Missouri Teachers Association.

Professor Hawkins married on June 9, 1891, to Eva L. Andrews, who died more than fifteen years ago. Two sons survive, Dr. Winfield W. Hawkins and Dr. John Ruskin Hawkins, both of Chicago. Both are physicians. A sister, Mrs. O. R. Saunders, lives near Pickering.

Died Last Night



CHARLES A. HAWKINS

A life devoted to education and the service of his community ended with little warning last night with the death of this member of the State Teachers College faculty, a former principal and superintendent of the Maryville public schools.

Fellow Educators Pay Their Tribute

C. A. Hawkins Characterized as "Loyal, Scholarly, and of Finest Influence."

Two persons closely associated in educational work with Mr. Hawkins, intimately acquainted with his character as well as his teaching, joined today in tribute.

"My acquaintance with Mr. Hawkins goes back to the time when he was superintendent of schools in Maryville, and when he was an officer in the State Teachers Association," Uel W. Lamkin, president of the State Teachers College said.

"My more intimate association with Mr. Hawkins came when I became president of the College.

Loyalty Outstanding.

"To me, the outstanding characteristic of Mr. Hawkins was his loyalty. He was loyal to his ideals; he was loyal to his work; he was loyal to his students, both in college and after they left college. He was loyal to his associates and he was loyal to his friends.

"I think he never sacrificed principle—that showed his loyalty to his ideals. He never sacrificed a friend and I know he never sacrificed a student.

"As far as the college work is concerned, there is not a more scholarly person on the faculty, no better teacher on the faculty and no person connected with the institution had a finer influence on the student body and other members of the faculty.

"As for my personal connection with Mr. Hawkins, I doubt if many people knew the reliance I put upon his judgment. He was not a member of the faculty council. He always was regardful of the lines of authority, yet time and again I have consulted him on administrative matters and I have leaned heavily on him for advice in matters regarding the college. Nobody touched the student body as did Mr. Hawkins.

"He lived a glorious life."

Life Measured by Deeds.

L. E. Ziegler, who occupies the position once held by Mr. Hawkins—superintendent of Maryville public schools, was a sincere admirer of the veteran educator. He added his sentiment as follows:

"In my relations with him in leisure as well as business interests I came to know, admire, and respect him as the sterling character which he typified each day. His sincerity in all matters never failed to impress those with whom he came in contact. His contribution to the development of this community is evidenced best by the reactions on the countless number of friends whom he has served.

"It is only through a realization of the richness of his life that our sorrow in his death is lightened. It should be ing.

Mr. Hawkins made his home here with his two nieces, Misses Laura and Ada Hawkins. Funeral arrangements will not be made until the arrival of the two sons from Chicago, but burial will be in Miriam cemetery, next to the grave of Mrs. Hawkins.

With the passing of Mr. Hawkins, Maryville lost one of its most ardent pedestrians. He took long walks daily.

H. C. Todd drove to Creston, Ia., today to meet one son, Dr. Ruskin Hawkins, and Mrs. Hawkins. The older son, Dr. Winfred Hawkins, will arrive in the morning.

FOUNDER OF GAYNOR DEAD

EDWARD GAYNOR, 88, SUFFERS PARALYTIC STROKE.

LEONARD COLLINS DIES

Helps Move First Victim; Strain Thought Cause of Own Death Short Time Later.

Edward Thaddeus Gaynor, 88 years old, after whom Gaynor was named, suffered a paralytic stroke as he was walking to his home in Parnell yesterday afternoon. He died at 4:55 p. m.

Mr. Gaynor fell in front of the residence of Dr. H. Day, who summoned others to aid in carrying him home. Leonard Collins, age 61, was one of those who helped.

A short time later Mr. Collins, who lived with his brother, Charles, suffered a similar paralytic stroke and he died at 11:30 o'clock last night.

Mr. Collins' stroke was believed to have been brought on by the unusual strain in helping with Mr. Gaynor. He had been doing his chores as usual and was missed at 7 o'clock by his brother, who went out and found him near the wood shed.

Both Gaynor and Collins were pioneer residents of the county, Mr. Gaynor having settled in Nodaway county in 1874 and Mr. Collins a resident of Parnell for twenty-seven years.

In Hospital Here.

Mr. Gaynor had not been in the best of health for the last year and about a year ago was brought to the St. Francis hospital here after he was hurt in a fall. No funeral arrangements had been made this afternoon.

Mr. Gaynor was born in Ireland May 12, 1839. His father emigrated to the United States at the time Edward was 8 years old and settled in Ohio, sending back for his wife and son. The mother died on the trip across the Atlantic. Mr. Gaynor learned the blacksmith trade in Pike county, Ohio, where he married Maggie E. Scowden, a sister of J. P. Scowden of Maryville. They were married November 4, 1868.

Six years later they came to Missouri, where Mr. Gaynor operated a farm and worked for a while for a blacksmith. He managed to get enough material together in 1876 for a blacksmith shop, which was located in Independence township on high prairie land two and a half miles west of Honey Creek. There he operated his blacksmith shop for many years and as the country became more settled the name "Gaynor City" was applied to the settlement.

His first wife died here and he was married again June 11, 1896, to Julia A. Colvis. Since they have lived in Sheridan and in recent years at Parnell.

He is survived by his second wife, two daughters, Georgia Mae Gaynor of Parnell and Mrs. Carl T. Williams of Sioux Falls, S. D.; and two stepdaughters, Mrs. Loren Long of Ravenwood and Mrs. J. T. Simmons of Sioux Falls, S. D.

Collins Born in Iowa.

Mr. Collins was born at Springdale, Iowa, and from there came to Parnell. He farmed in the immediate vicinity during his long stay there. He never was married.

He is survived by two brothers, Charles and Thomas, and three sisters, Jane and Emma, all of Parnell, and Mrs. Dave Brogan of Sheridan.

Earth Shocks Felt in European Cities

Four Continental Points Record Strong Quakes but Little Damage Done.—Guatemala Shaken.

London, Mar. 27.—Earth tremors were felt in four continental cities today, while two observatorities recorded strong earthquakes.

In Italy, shocks were felt at Udine Bellano and Trieste. There was no damage but the population became panicky.

An earthquake also shook Munich, Germany.

The seismographs at Kew observatory recorded a violent earthquake the epicenter of which was estimated to be 650 miles away, probably in the eastern Alps, and instruments in the observatory at Benevento, Italy, also recorded a quake. Its epicenter was estimated to be 625 miles away.

Guatemala City, Guatemala, Mar. 27.—A slight earthquake of long duration was felt in the Guatemala capital shortly before last midnight. There was no damage.

Mrs. Julia A. Riggle, 97 Years Old, Dies

Funeral Services for Aged Resident of Swan Chapel Community to Be Held Tomorrow.

Mrs. Julia A. Riggle, 97 years old, died at 12:30 o'clock this morning at the home of her son, E. S. Riggle, eight miles southwest of Maryville. She had been in failing health for a number of years.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Riggle home. The Rev. W. S. Woodhull, pastor of the First M. E. Church of Maryville, will conduct the services. Burial will be at Swan Chapel cemetery.

Mrs. Riggle was born in Carroll county, Ohio, June 8, 1831, and lived there until 1853, then locating in Iowa. She moved to Nodaway county in 1883 and had lived near Swan Chapel since that time. Her husband, Abraham Riggle, died in September, 1904. Mrs. Riggle is survived by her son and a number of grandchildren. She had been a member of the Swan Chapel M. E. Church ever since she became a resident of the community.

LARGE CROWD AT PROGRAM

CONCERT AT THE COLLEGE IS WELL RECEIVED.

THREE ARTISTS CHARM

Solists for Grand Opera "Aida" Are Announced—Will Be Given May 4.

An audience that filled the auditorium of the State Teachers College heard the concert presented by Sylvia Tell, danseuse, Laura Townsley McCoy, colorature soprano, and Leith Stevens, pianist, last night.

The feature of the evening was the performance of Miss Tell, premiere American danseuse. She was especially graceful and her five interpretations were charming.

Miss McCoy has a singularly sweet voice and a winning personality. Her Jenny Lind group was sung in costume and called for an insistent demand for two encores.

Mr. Stevens, pianist, played his numbers without affectation, in a thoroughly workmanlike manner and with excellent tone. He also played the accompaniments for Miss Tell and Miss McCoy.

The entire program was well received.

The next major attraction at the State Teachers College will be the presentation of "Aida," May 4, by the Cramer Opera Co., of Chicago.

The following celebrated opera stars will be soloists: Louise Loring, Kathryn Browne, Ernest Davis, Raymond Koch, John Ross Reed and Ivan Steschenko.

Frank Waller will be the director. The Opera company will be assisted in this production by the State Teachers College chorus of 76 voices and the college orchestra.

Will Practice for "Aida" Tomorrow

The State Teachers College chorus, which is to present the grand opera Aida with the aid of a company of professional soloists on May 4, will practice under the direction of Dr. Knoch, professional director, tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

Dr. Konch will be here only one day for rehearsal but will be back the day of the presentation of the opera to conduct the production at that time.

New Katy Merger Filed With I. C. C.

Washington, March 27.—A new Katy merger plan was filed with the interstate commerce commission today by attorneys for L. F. Loree.

The plan, which will be announced late today or tomorrow, is understood to request authorization for consolidation of the Kansas, City Southern and Missouri-Kansas-Texas and the St. Louis Southwestern railroads.

Loree about a year ago filed a similar merger proposal with the commission but it was rejected. The commission at that time suggested that he file a new plan and the application submitted today is believed to contain modifications suggested by the commission when it acted on the first merger proposal.

ENDORSE BUT FAIL TO BIND

REPUBLICANS PRAISE LOWDEN BUT DON'T INSTRUCT.

DELEGATES AS SLATED

Fight on Former Illinois Governor Develops in State Convention At St. Joseph.

St. Joseph, Mo., Mar. 27.—The Presidential candidacy of Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois, was given an unreserved indorsement by the Republican state convention in session here yesterday.

The resolution indorsing Lowden and commending his candidacy to Missouri's delegates-at-large to the national committee was adopted by a vote of more than 2 to 1. The resolution was said to be satisfactory to James Finch, Missouri campaign manager for the Illinoisan, and Clarence F. Buck, Chicago, director of the national campaign for Lowden.

Indorsement for the former Illinois governor, however, was the best his supporters here could do. The Missouri delegation will go uninstructed to the Republican national convention at Kansas City.

Opposed by Hoover Leader.

Raymond Barnett, a Hoover supporter from Kansas City, opposed indorsement of Lowden, saying it would be a discrimination against other candidates should any one candidate be indorsed.

The indorsement given the Lowden candidacy follows:

"The Republican party is fortunate today, as it has always been in every great emergency, in having the honorable Frank O. Lowden of Illinois as a man, who by character, ability, and understanding of all the great problems which affect the American life, is peculiarly fitted to carry out this purpose and function of government, and we heartily indorse his candidacy for the Presidency of the United States, and commend it to the delegates who shall be selected at this convention."

The Kansas City delegation, representing the second largest city in the state, supported Hoover and Curtis, and, as a result, failed to place a representative on the list of seven delegates-at-large.

Not "Last Ditch" Support.

The anti-Lowden fight was taken by many of the state leaders as a death knell to the bandwagon movement for the Illinoisan in Missouri. It revealed quite clearly there was no great underlying organization sentiment for Lowden among the Missouri Republicans, such as had been represented by some Republican leaders.

The uninstructed "big seven" will vote as it chooses in the Kansas City convention next June. Undoubtedly it will cast several votes for Lowden at the beginning of the convention. But it is significant that virtually none of the delegate-at-large elected here are last-ditch Dowden supporters. The convention fight revealed that Charles G. Dawes had the most substantial strength in the Missouri delegation of thirty-nine to the national convention, with Hoover as runner-up, and Charles E. Hughes in the background as a threatening "dark horse."

After Long Wrangle.

When test votes were taken in the Resolutions Committee, comprising one member from each of the 16 congressional districts, the vote was 10 to 5 against instructions, with one member absent. The committee then voted 8 to 7 against an indorsement. The absent member returned to the committee and voted for an endorsement, making a tie vote.

After extended wrangle, party leaders were called in to work out the situation, and finally agreed on an endorsement. The formal caucus included Governor Baker, former Governor Hyde, former Attorney-General Jesse W. Barrett of St. Louis, B. G. Voorhees of St. Joseph, who was opposing an indorsement; Dr. E. B. Clements, Republican national committeeman, and James A. Finch, Missouri manager for Lowden.

The opposition in the resolutions committee to an indorsement of Lowden by name was led by Roy Monier of Carrollton, state grain and warehouse, commissioner, who is friendly to Hoover, and Voorhees of St. Joseph, who is anti-Lowden. Direct instructions were favored by former United States Senator George H. Williams of St. Louis County, chairman of the committee.

The "Big Seven."

CONVENTION CITIES TO BE "DRIED UP"

Assistant Prohibition Commissioner to Visit Both Kansas City and Houston.

Washington, Mar. 27.—With the intention of "drying up" the two convention cities, assistant probition commissioner Alf Oftedal left Washington last night for Kansas City and Houston, the treasury revealed today.

"We are determined to keep away the organized bootleggers who will ry to profit by the conventions," assistant Secretary of Treasury Lowman said.

The prohibition bureau intends doing everything in its power to make liquor expensive and scarce at the convention, striking particularly at large scale bootlegging, he said.

He added, however, "we do not intend to violate any man's domicile."

CHICAGO INTO NEW TURMOIL

HOMES OF SENATOR DENEEN AND A JUDGE BOMBED.

LINKED WITH POLITICS

Bricks, Bullets and Bombs in Fight Between Small-Thompson and Lowden-Deneen Factions.

Chicago, March 27.—Two bombs wrecked the homes of United States Senator Charles Deneen and Circuit Judge John J. Swanson last night, and today Chicago was thrown into such turmoil as the heat of election campaigns and gang wars never produced before.

The word went out on all sides this morning, before the city had recovered from the first shock of the two bombings, that the lid was off.

The city was wide open for the duration of the primary campaign, ending April 10. Bricks for precinct workers, agreed. Bricks for precinct workers, bullets for ward leaders and bombs for major political figures had been the rule of the campaign. It was just a question of who would come next.

Threats of state action to supercede the power of Chicago and Cook county law authorities were met by counter rumors, wild and uncredited, of a prospective declaration of martial law by Governor Len Small to prevent seizure of the law enforcement machinery by forces opposed to Small, District Attorney Robert E. Crowe and Mayor William Hale Thompson.

Federal Agents Act.

Hesitant inquiries by frankly skeptical district attorney agents were crossed by thoroughly determined investigation by federal secret service agents.

District Attorney Crowe offered a reward of $10,000 for apprehension of the bombers, and at the same time charged in a formal statement that the bombs were set by supporters of Senator Deneen to discredit Crowe and Thompson.

Police and the district attorney's office appeared to be entirely inactive in the bombings today.

At noon not an arrest had been made; no special squads, so far as could be learned, had been detailed to the cause, and the inter-police station telegraph wires had not even carried an announcement of the bombings.

Leaders Withhold Comment.

Attorney-General Oscar Carlstrom arrived in Chicago this morning from Springfield. He refused to make any comment on the bombings.

Emerson headquarters, center of activity of the Deneen forces in Chicago, also reported no comments would be made until more information was obtained.

Swanson is a candidate for state's attorney against Crowe, and is supported by Deneen's faction of the Republican party.

Out of the confusion surrounding the bombings and the shadowy background of politics and gang wars which underlay them, appeared the following clearly outlined trail of events:

1.—"Diamond Joe" Esposito, Deneen leader of the 25th ward and one of the strongest anti-Thompson politicians in the city, was shot down last Wednesday night in front of his home. He died with 50 shotgun slugs and revolver bullets in his body.

Bricks Through Windows.

2.—Forces of Louis Emmerson, candidate for governor; Otis Glenn, can-

FLIERS WAIT ON WEATHER

GERMANS EXPECT TO RESUME AMERICAN FLIGHT THURSDAY.

THEIRS IS HARD TASK

Experts Say It Is Almost Impossible for Plane to Make Flight from Ireland to Long Island.

London, Mar. 27.—Weather conditions were unfavorable today for a trans-Atlantic flight, the air ministry reported at 4:30 p. m.

Dublin, March 27.—Captain Hermann Koehl, pilot of the Junkers monoplane Bremen, said today he would start at dawn Wednesday with his two companions on a westward trans-Atlantic flight to New York if the weather permitted, a high government official informed the United Press.

Dublin, Mar. 27.—The trans-Atlantic flight to New York of the Junkers monoplane Bremen, carrying three Germans, will start as soon as the weather is favorable, probably Thursday.

The German airmen—Captain Hermann Koehl, pilot; Baron Ehrenfried Gunther von Huenefeld, friend of the former Crown Prince, and Arthur Spindler, mechanic—took a long rest last night.

They rose late and went to Baldonnel airdome, where they landed yesterday in completing the first stage of the flight which began in Berlin.

The Baron, monocled, as carefree as though he were preparing for a picnic, watched the smiling, chubby captain Koehl, one of Germany's crack war pilots, superintending preparations for the westward overseas journey that no plane has accomplished.

The Bremen's engine, similar to that which holds the world endurance record, worked perfectly.

Plane Ready for Flight.

Fuel was loaded on the plane so that it would be ready the moment the weather was right for the flight which has sent five men and two women,—one a pincess, the other the brilliant and beautiful daughter of a wealthy English peer,—to death.

It was thought at first that the start would be made at dawn Wednesday but latest weather reports indicated it would be safer to start Thursday morning.

The Irish Free State air force is helping to maintain strictest secrecy about the activities and intentions of the German airmen.

Newspapermen and photographers have been excluded from Baldonnel Field, which was under especial guard.

Two expert German mechanics, who conducted tuning, oiling and fueling of the plane, slept last night beside the machine's sealed hangar.

"We hope to reach New York or Heaven," one of the fliers said when the airplane arrived at Baldonnel Field from Berlin yesterday.

They had taken off secretly from the Templehof airdome in Berlin in the reconditioned Junkers monoplane Bremen in which Koehl and Von Huenefeld failed at a transatlantic crossing last summer. Their families did not know the start was to be made. They arrived at the Berlin field, tested the engine and took to the air almost before their plans became known.

Say Task Impossible.

The three German Flyers face a task that aviation experts say is almost impossible at the present stage of airplane development.

Strong head winds whip against the flight. Heavy fogs hang over the sea. Last year six planes started on the westward flight. Two never were heard of. Four turned back.

The slightest mishap will mean almost certain death. The plane, a land machine, has no rubber boat or other appliances to permit its crew to remain afloat. The three, in an effort to lessen the weight, discarded their wireless apparatus, their life belts and emergency rations.

Their probably course will be direct

FARM RELIEF TO THE FORE

MEASURE AGAIN BEFORE BOTH HOUSES OF CONGRESS.

UP PROBABLY APRIL 10

Senate Will Wait for Lower House Action—To Break "Bird Bill" Filibuster.

Washington, March 27.—The farm relief issue was forced to the fore in Congress again today by the report of the House agriculture committee urging enactment of the McNary-Haugen bill, which President Coolidge once vetoed.

The measure was placed before the House yesterday with a greater committee vote than ever before, fifteen for and only six against. It appears the bill will be taken up by the House about April 13, depending upon the time required for flood control legislation. The Senate will wait until the House acts.

Essentially the Same.

The House measure and that reported to the Senate by its agriculture committee several weeks ago are essentially the same in principle, the chief difference being in the amount of the loan fund, the House bill providing $400,000,000 and the Senate measure, $250,000,000. The House bill provides more latitude in use of the loan fund.

Both provide that the equalization fee, to which President Coolidge objects, shall be used only if the loan features will not meet the needs in marketing surplusses. This provision is designed to meet the President's objections, but it is not believed it will.

Senate leaders have reached an agreement to break the "Bird bill" filibuster tomorrow and take up the new Jones flood control bill.

Advocates of the flood measure predict it will be adopted and sent to the House before the end of the week.

The decision to sidetrack the migratory bird bill is supposed to be a secret. Leaders have permitted debate to run along for a week now. During most of that time, Senators Blaine, Wisconsin, King, Utah, and Dill, Washington, have monopolized the floor, determined that the bill should, as they say, be "fully debated."

Indications are they have not yet reached their second wind. They charge that the bill, which proposes to establish wild game and bird refuges, is iniquitous and that they would be justified in using "extraordinary means" to prevent its passage.

Senator Norbeck, Republican, South Dakota, author of the bill, is convinced they are filibustering against the measure.

WALL STREET RUSH HALTED

PROFITS WIPED OUT

General Motors Makes Sensational Swing Downward; Other Sharp Breaks.

New York, March 27.—The Wall Street gold rush was halted abruptly today when General Motors, leader of the recent sensational boom, made a sensational swing downward in the largest session in point of sales ever seen on the stock exchange.

Millions of dollars in paper profits were wiped out during the hectic session.

Within a few hours many traders who had won small fortunes during the recent boom in shares of General Motors lost all they had gained and more, too.

Sales for the session totaled 4,655,900 shares, a new record high and comparing with yesterday's record volume of 4,248,500 shares.

Expected Rise Fails.

After attaining a new high at 199 yesterday afternoon Wall Street generally expected motors stock to attain the much talked of price of 200. Instead large blocks of the stock were turned over and the price shot down to 180, off 18¾ points net.

Other motor shares were extremely active, dropping precipitately.

After selling of unprecedented proportions had carried through half of the day, a rally set in, bringing back more than half the losses in the majority of issues.

Radio Corporation was an outstanding feature of the strength, soaring 18 points from its low of the day to a new high at 164, and holding most of the gain to the close.

Other Sharp Breaks.

Sharp breaks occurred in such issues as Dupont, General Electric, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Chrysler, Hupp and Hudson Motors.

Toward the close New York Central and Pennsylvania rose to new highs for the year, while stocks like Sinclair and Montgomery Ward recovered to above the previous close.

Sales came out in large blocks, causing tickers to lag more than a half hour at times.

County Orator to Unionville Friday

Clyde Sparks, Gaynor, Will Compete for District Honor at 8 o'Clock Friday Night.

Clyde Sparks, junior in the Gaynor high school, who will represent Nodaway county in the district oratorical contest on the Constitution to be held at Unionville Friday night, will leave for there Thursday. He will be accompanied by his coach, Mrs. Halley Ford, Noble Florea and Leona Lawson.

The plan is to hold the contest in the Unionville high school auditorium at 8 o'clock Friday night.

didate for United States senator against Frank L. Smith; and Attorney-General Oscar E. Carlstrom, state attorney-general running for renomination—the so-called Lowden-Deneen ticket—charged Small-Thompson-Crowe supporters with hurling bricks through windows holding Emmerson-Glenn-Carlstrom posters, and otherwise with introducing petty violence into the campaign.

No one was injured in either explosion.

POLICE CATCH EACH OTHER

SEEKING KIDNAPERS, COLUMBIA OFFICERS OPEN FIRE.

JOKE THEORY DROPPED

Receipt of Second Note Threatening Child Causes Renewed Confusion.

Columbia, Mo., Mar. 27.—Columbia police fired at each other here today in the belief they were shooting at kidnapers who have terrorized Columbia the past week.

Sheriff Roy Creed and his deputy, James Fenton, awaiting arrival of Ridnapers to get $1,000 demanded on threats, opened fire on patrolmen William Lawhorn and James Ellis, who were also planning to capture the blackmailer. No one was injured.

The incident marked the first violence in more than a week of blackmailing and kidnaping threats in this city. The child-stealing furore began when Dr. H. H. Buescher received a note a week ago demanding that $1,000 be left at the University of Missouri stadium. The note threatened Buescher's daughter if the money was not forthcoming.

An attempt to waylay the criminal at that time was unsuccessful and it was after a similar note was received by Buescher Sunday that the officers clashed at the stadium.

Between the time the first note was sent Buescher and the incident last night, three distinct attempts have been made here to kidnap school children by taking them from their classes in school.

Authorities have sought every possible means of gaining identification and were elated last week over the prospect of determining the guilty persons by handwriting of the threatening notes.

It was discovered the various threatening notes and forged excuses to school teacher were written in different hands, and authorities then believed a practical jokester had taken up the blackmailing art for sport.

Receipts of the last note by Buescher virtually dispelled this theory, however, and police were as much confused in the mystery today as they were a week ago.

Flooded California Rivers May Recede

Only Light Rain Predicted After Week in Which Hundreds Were Made Homeless.—Two Dead.

Sacramento, Calif., Mar. 27.—A new flood threat appeared here today with an unexpected rise in the Sacramento and American rivers, which already had inundated thousands of acres of rich farm land.

Both streams were falling shortly after dawn today, but during the forenoon they started rising again as water poured down from the foothills of the Sierra Nevada Mountains.

Sacramento, Cal., March 27.—Rivers and creeks of northern California which flooded thousands of acres of farm land and inundated sections of half a dozen cities and towns, were falling rapidly today.

Property damage from the high waters remained unestimated, but it will be counted in many hundreds of thousands of dollars when a comprehensive survey can be made of the district.

San Francisco, Mar. 27.—The state of California looked forward to relief today from heavy rains which in the last week have flooded thousands of acres of fertile land and rendered hundreds homeless.

Government weather reports forecast only light rains and predicted that the major rivers of the state might go down within two or three days.

Loss of life, officials reported, was limited to two deaths. Zacharias Parker, Sacramento, was drowned and an unidentified hermit was drowned when his hut on the bank of Stanislaus river was washed away.

Three persons clung to trees near Cloverdale for several hours while the Russian river raged about them. Rescue attempts were hindered by the flood waters but it was believed they might be saved.

North Sacramento was hit worst. Hundreds were homeless there, and looting started. State health officials called relief workers from the Santa Paula region.

Emmett Scott Is Out for County Treasurer

Member of the Polk Township Board Is First to Announce for This Office.—Lives in Maryville.

The first announcement for the county treasurer's office, subject to the August primaries was made today by Emmett Scott of Maryville, member of the Polk township board. Mr. Scott filed his intentions with Fred Wright, county clerk, this afternoon that he would be a candidate on the Republican ticket for the nomination for treasurer.

Mr. Scott is a native Missourian, having been born in Maryville. He has lived on a farm near here and in Maryville for the last forty-five years except while he was away at school and for a period of nearly two years while he was chief bookkeeper in the Burlington railway office at St. Joseph.

Mr. Scott is married and has three children, all of whom are attending the Maryville schools.

He is a graduate of the commercial department of the Maryville Seminary and he has taken special commercial work at the Gem City Business College at Quincy, Ill., and at the Central Business College at Kanseas City, Mo.

In making the announcement for the treasurer's office Mr. Scott said "I feel that this office is one of the most important of the county offices and I believe that the county treasurer should be well trained along commercial lines. With the past training I have had and the past experiences in other positions of importance I am confident I can satisfactorily and efficiently discharge the obligations devolving upon the county treasurer."

Reed Slogan 'Clean Out the Clean-ups'

Presidential Candidate, Touring South, Suggests It as Party Battle Cry.

High Point, N. C., March 27.—Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, touring the South in the interest of his campaign for the Democratic Presidential nomination, continued his North Carolina program of speeches today, after advancing in his first address of the tour last night the slogan "Clean out the 'clean-ups'." "The slogan should be the party one," Reed told several thousand North Carolinians, "it is a just one."

He denounced the Republican administration "for its oil stains." "Big money has dragged the Republican party banner in the slime. Nobody proposes to visit the sins of the managers of the Republican party on the innocent heads of the people who compose the mass of Republican voters. If, however, the rascals are turned out and honest men put in, don't forget that benefits flow to Republicans and Democrats alike," Reed said.

Reed attacked President Coolidge, after naming a long list of Republicans "smirched with oil."

"I am not sure that Mr. Coolidge knew about this scandal, but he was lethargic in dealing justice to those who defiled their officers," Reed said. He urged the President to request the resignation of Secretary of Treasury Andrew Mellon.

Reed will speak at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, N. C., and at Raleigh today.

Plane In Splendid Shape.

London, Mar. 27.—The flight to the United States in the Junkers airplane "Bremen" will be attempted as soon as possible Baron Von Huenefeld, one of the three members of the airplane's crew, told the United Press in a telephone conversation from Dublin today.

"All three of us (referring to Captain Herman Koehl, Arthur Spindler and himself) are in fine condition and the best of spirits," the Baron said.

"Our airplane is in splendid shape for the flight. We are not certain what route we will take or when we leave but it will be at the soonest possible time," he said.

Koehl Loses His Job.

Hamburg, Germany, Mar. 27.—Captain Hermann Koehl, one of the chiefs of the Lufthansa's night time air service, must be regarded as dismissed, the company announced today. The Lufthansa is known to disapprove of trans-Atlantic attempts, such as Koehl is making, without "adequate" machines.

Growth of Machines Adds Unemployment

Senator Smoot Cites Increased Mechanization as Offering New Industrial Problems.

Washington, March 27. — Chairman Smoot of the finance committee told the Senate in a speech today that unemployment is attributed to the growth of machines in industry. To illustrate his point, he suggested there may not be a telephone girl in the capital in 1930, due to installation of automatic phones. He suggested the labor department's report, claiming there are only 1,800,000 unemployed, would dispel wild rumors at the height of unemployment.

Smoot pointed to cases where four men with a machine now are doing the factory work formerly done by sixteen men. He said a labor leader recently had reported there were 11,000 fewer positions open in his craft in the last few years, due to increased mechanization. Use of tractors on farms has likewise cut down volume of farm labor, he added.

Smoot suggested business men who increase their machinery should try to find places for those the machines deprive of work. Legislation would be futile, he said.

SMITH AGAIN WRITES NYE

GOVERNOR REPLIES TO SENATOR'S CHARGES.

CITES 1ST STATEMENT

An Apology, Not "Tirade of Abuse, Due Him, Democratic Possibility" Declares.

Albany, N. Y., Mar. 27.—Governor Alfred E. Smith has, for the second time, directed a letter to Senator Gerald P. Nye condemning the use of the Governor's name in connection with the investigation of Teapot Dome oil scandals.

The governor's most recent letter, mailed yesterday, read:

"Dear Senator Nye: I have read the letter in which you attempt to cover up your unwarranted conduct in making an admittedly baseless charge against me on the floor of the Senate. When my letter of protest was first read by you, you made the following statement, as quoted in United Press dispatches:

"'Governor Alfred E. Smith's denial of receiving any campaign contributions from Harry F. Sinclair must be accepted as disproving any charge which has been made. It is a good, flat statement that anyone ought to be able to accept as final. Knowing Smith, we must accept this statement as disapproving any charge which has been made that he was the recipient of any contribution from Mr. Sinclair.'

"A Proper Intention."

"You there showed a proper intention to right a wrong committed by you. Apparently something has happened to turn you aside from this impulse and you now have the audacity to charge that because I resented your false statement about me, I am undermining public confidence in your committee.

"Let me remind you that the chairmanship of a Senate committee exempts no man from the obligation not to make reckless and irresponsible statements. I yield to no man in my admiration for your committee's work and for its distinguished leading counsel, Senator Walsh. Or in desire to expose and punish all connected with the corruption unearthed by your Teapot Dome investigation.

"You say that my letter to you is the first condemnation uttered by me of the oil scandals which has come to your notice. For your information, let me say that I spoke frequently throughout New York state and elsewhere in condemnation of the oil scandals in the campaign of 1924.

"Apology Due, Not Abuse."

"It is an insult to the public intelligence for you to suggest that in order for you to accomplish the proper purpose of a Senate committee, it is necessary for me to submit without resentment to a false and unjust statement from you. You made this misstatement, you admitted you made it and you publicly stated that I had demonstrated its falsity. The next step for you to have taken was a letter of apology and not a tirade of abuse. Very truly yours,

"Alfred E. Smith."

Community Meeting Held at Bell Grove

Miss Elizabeth White Speaks at Fourth Meeting of Year.—Closing Exercises May 4.

BELL GROVE—The fourth community meeting for this school year was held at the Bell Grove school Friday night. After a program consisting of short plays, songs and readings, Miss Elizabeth White, rural school supervisor, gave a very interesting talk. After the program a lunch consisting of sandwiches, pickles, pie and coffee was served.

A closing day program will be given May 4.

The elementary science classes have almost completed the bird houses they have been making. They have also completed a poster of the various spring birds.

Visitors at our school last week were Miss Anna Neilsen on Wednesday afternoon and Mrs. E. J. Schooler and daughter, Clarice, on Friday afternoon.

Several have been absent from school the last week on account of illness. Lawrence Jackson and Harvey Neilsen are still unable to attend school.

Legion and Auxiliary to Rock Port Tonight

About Fifty Members Here Expected to Attend Installation and Dedication.

Between forty and fifty members of the James Edward Gray Post of the American Legion and Auxiliary are expected to attend the installation tonight of the Auxiliary officers at Rock Port and the dedication of the new American Legion Hall.

The Maryville installing team will be in charge of the installation of the Rock Port officers.

A male quartet composed of Roy V. Canon, Paul Miner, John G. Mutz and Martin Lewis, jr., will sing. Miss Catherine Gray will sing a vocal solo, and a solo dance will be featured by Virginia Daniels. A cornet solo is to be played by Dr. Canon.

The Legion quartet of Rock Port will sing.

The Auxiliary installing team follows:

Mrs. Garnett Gray Watt, committeewoman; Mrs. Fern Crull, Mrs. John G. Mutz, Mrs. Raymond Groves, Mrs. J. J. Turner, Mrs. Leonard Gray.

97 Attend Baptist School of Missions

Ninety-seven persons attended the opening night last night of the Annual School of Missions being held through this week at the First Baptist Church assisted in the instruction by Frank Connelly of China and Miss Elma Elam of Africa, both missionaries of long experience.

The enrollment is expected to take a big increase tonight.

The school has seven divisions ranging from the primary class to the adult age.

In addition to the staff of instruction the following is the attendance in each department:

Primary, eight; Junior Girls, twenty-four; Intermediate Girls Class, eighteen; Young Peoples Class, fourteen; Boys Class, ten; Women's Class, twelve; Men's Class, eight.

In addition to the missionaries, the instruction classes are under Mrs. James Culp, St. Joseph; D. H. Howerton, St. Joseph; Miss Elizabeth White, the Rev. and Mrs. Guy L. Prather of Maryville.

At the assembly period last night at 8:15 o'clock Mr. Connelly gave an illustrated lecture on China using slides. Miss Elam will speak at the assembly period tonight.

Operetta Date Is Changed to April 5

The date set for the presentation of the operetta "Lelawala" by the music department of the Maryville high school has been changed from April 6 to Thursday evening, April 5. It will be given in the auditorium of the State Teachers College.

DEATH TO EDUCATOR

come a happy privilege for future generations to project a finer citizenship from such splendid foundations as these laid by Mr. Hawkins.

"His was a life dedicated to one ideal, always having the courage of his conviction, it may truly be said his life is measured by deeds rather than years."

Mr. Hawkins' Visit to Chicago 'Providential'

"Never Saw Him So Happy," Miss Laura Hawkins Says—Both Sons Through Medical School.

It seemed almost providential that Mr. Hawkins had made the trip to Chicago, a week ago, to visit his two sons, Miss Laura Hawkins said today.

He had been ill before he went, but refused to consult a physician. When he returned he said he had had the "most delightful time." A week ago today he attended the graduation exercises at Rush Medical College, when his son, Dr. Raskin Hawkins, received his M. D. degree.

"I never have seen him so happy as when he returned from Chicago," Miss Hawkins said.

"He died just the way he wished to die. He had spoken of it several times, and hoped that the infirmities of age would not make him helpless."

Mr. Hawkins had not missed teaching a class because of his own sickness for 31 years, until yesterday. He never taught outside of Nodaway County.

Had Great Influence on Lives of Others

Among "His" Boys and Girls Mr. Hawkins Had Many Who Are Well Known.

Probably no man ever had greater influence upon the lives of others than C. A. Hawkins, who died last night.

During Mr. Hawkins' career as principal and superintendent of the Maryville public schools, he took a great interest and pride in all "his" boys and girls who completed their studies. This interest and pride he always maintained thereafter.

Today there are a number of the business and professional men of Maryville who were graduated when Mr. Hawkins was either principal or superintendent. Others have located elsewhere and have been very successful.

Among Mr. Hawkins' "boys" are: Judge Merrill E. Otis, federal judge of the Western District of Missouri; Homer Croy, New York City, author; Judge George Robb Ellison, supreme court commissioner; J. A. McMillen, librarian of the University of Louisiana, Baton Rouge, La; D. J. Howell, Cheyenne, Wyo., former attorney general of Wyoming; Forrest Donnell, St. Louis, and Forrest Hanna, Kansas City, attorneys; Charles Kane, Chicago, editor of the Illinois Central magazine; the Rev. Will Shullenberger, Indianapolis, Ind., pastor of the First Christian Church; Dr. Harry Hosmer, Gary, Ind.; the Rev. Samuel Grundy Fisher, Bellingham, Wash., pastor of First Christian Church, and George Crowson, Chicago, assistant to the first vice-president Illinois Central railway.

College Is Hushed by Hawkins' Death

It was the State Teachers College, this morning. The students were there. The faculty was there. The same old walls and halls, that usually echo and resound with the gaiety of youth, were there, but the echoes and resoundings were not there. A hushed silence prevailed.

One smiled and nodded to friends from habit, perhaps, but thoughts were elsewhere. Mr. Hawkins—gone—no one could realize it.

"No man in Northwest Missouri had wielded greater influence for good in shaping the lives of young people," M. E. Seleeman, director of publicity at the College, said.

"I think Mr. Hawkins planned to give up teaching in a year or so and devote some of his time to writing of his many experiences," Mr. Seleeman said.

In the business office: "Mr. Hawkins always came in every day, we expected him. I don't know how we'll get used to his not coming," said Miss Nell Hudson, registrar.

And the office of Mr. Lamkin, the school's president. Between sentences of tribute to Mr. Hawkins, Mr. Lamkin wiped away tears.

A meeting of the faculty was held at 10:30 o'clock this morning, when a committee was appointed by Mr. Lamkin to represent the faculty in making any arrangements. T. H. Cook, with whom Mr. Hawkins attended college, H. A. Foster, whose office was with Mr. Hawkins, and H. T. Phillips who, with Mr. Hawkins, formed the placement committee at the college, were appointed on the committee.

College will be dismissed the half day in which the funeral will be held.

Sacrificed Position for a Younger Man

But for Own Generosity, C. A. Hawkins Might Have Been Superintendent at Marshall, Mo.

A little known incident in the life of C. A. Hawkins, illustrative of his character, came to light with his death.

The superintendency of schools at Marshall, Mo., was vacant several years ago. It was a very desirable position, and Mr. Hawkins decided to make application.

He wrote a letter and walked with it to the postoffice. There he met W. M. Westbrook, who had succeeded Mr. Hawkins as superintendent of Maryville schools.

A conversation followed, in which Mr. Westbrook mentioned the vacancy at Marshall, said he would like to apply and asked Mr. Hawkins' advice.

The older man told the younger by all means to make application. He said nothing of his own application. Mr. Westbrook left, prepared an application, mailed it and got the job.

"He's a young man. He needs it worse than I do," said Mr. Hawkins.

He put his own letter back in his pocket and walked from the postoffice.

Eyelid Nearly Torn Off by Clothesline

John Baker, Farmer, Moving From South of Maryville to West of Pickering, Suffers Injury.

John Baker, who lives nine miles south of Maryville, but who is moving to a farm west of Pickering, suffered an unusual and painful injury to his right eye yesterday.

He ran into a wire clothesline, which tore nearly all the eyelid off. It was necessary to take several stitches to sew the eyelid back.

Hay Denies Having Flirted With K. K. K.

Democratic Candidate for Senate Issues Statement Denouncing Intimation.

St. Louis, Mo., March 27.—In a frank plea for party harmony, Charles M. Hay, dry candidate for the Democratic nomination for the United States Senate, issued a statement here denying "he ever flirted" with the Ku Klux Klan.

Hay's statement was prompted by opposition to his candidacy at a meeting of Third Ward St. Louis Democrats which endorsed his wet opponent, James A. Collet.

The question of the Ku Klux Klan was raised by a letter from Joseph J. Mestres, chairman of the St. Louis Democrats committee, which was read to the meeting. It intimated Hay had "flirted" with the once hooded order.

"Any charges or suggestion or rumor that I have 'flirted with the Ku Klux Klan' or that I have been in any manner, shape or form directly or indirectly affiliated or connected therewith is wholly untrue and unjust to me," Hay said in a formal statement.

He likewise expressed the belief that the campaign should be conducted "so as not to confuse the issues or stir up prejudices which have heretofore seriously injured the party.

Owns Violin 292 Years Old.

The delegates-at-large chosen were: Gov. Sam A. Baker, Jefferson City; Arthur M. Hyde, Trenton, Former Governor; Mrs. Maude Cunningham, Bolivar; Mrs. G. L. Zwick, St. Joseph; Mayor Victor Miller, St. Louis; Edmond Koeln, St. Louis; and Walthall M. Moore, negro of St. Louis.

For presidential electors-at-large from Missouri the convention selected Mrs. E. E. Rudolph of St. Louis and William Buchholz of Kansas City.

Following are the district electors:

First district—William H. Yancey, LaBelle; second district—Mrs. Vina I. Bowden, Brookfield; third district—C. H. Johnson, Richmond; Fourth district—Mrs. Ina Hitz, Forest City; fifth district—Frank H. Crowell, Kansas City; sixth district—Roy Miller, St. Clair County; seventh district—William A. Dollarhide, Hermitage; eighth district—Mrs. Mattie Peters, Linn; ninth district—George E. Convention Notes

With the election yesterday of Mrs. G. L. Zwick of St. Joseph as a delegate at large to the Republican national convention, this district has the distinction of having had representation on the "big seven" for two consecutive times, an honor not given to many congressional districts outside of those in which the two large cities of the state are located. Four years ago the Fourth district member of the "big seven" was W. C. Pierce of Maryville.

The Fourth also was in the limelight in the room in which the committee on resolutions worked for more than five hours in the drafting of the document which was to be the expression of principles of the Republican party in this state. Bert G. Voorhees of St. Joseph was the Fourth's representative on this important committee, and it was his strong personality and leadership ability that placed into the resolutions the section declaring the obligation of the party to provide legislation for the advancement of agricultural prosperity and endorsing Lowden as the presidential candidate without instructing the delegates to vote for the Illinois man.

Lowden strength in the convention was more in appearance than in fact. Undoubtedly the overwhelming sentiment was for Dawes, but Dawes is not an avowed candidate and the voting for Lowden was given on the theory that Dawes would be the logical inheritor of the Lowden votes as soon as it should become evident that Lowden could not win the nomination.

The biggest demonstration when presidential possibilities were mentioned was given to Hughes, and this may be taken as an indication of what may happen during the national sessions when the delegates begin looking around for a new entry into the lists of candidates. Hughes has impressed the whole country with his availability as a candidate, but the positive statement that he would not get into the contest has served to hold this sentiment in abeyance.

That Missouri Republicans are confident of victory next November was indicated in the enthusiasm of delegates and the several thousands of visitors who filled the large convention hall during the sessions and lent their cheerings and encouragements to the swells of applause for speakers who struck the high notes during the day. It is estimated there were more than 5,000 in attendance at the convention, and the meeting certainly was one of the most enthusiastic in the history of the party in the state.

Speakers accepted the challenge made by the Democrats that "honesty in office" is to be the paramount issue in the coming campaign. James A. Finch, temporary chairman and convention "keynoter," took Senator Reed to a cleaning on this question, bringing up the history of Democratic misdeeds in this state by which Reed had been the beneficiary. Governor Hyde went into the same subject in his address, declaring that "Fraud knows no party," and that a recreant Republican official is first a traitor to the party and must be punished by that party. "No American," he said, "winks at crookedness in official position. A Republican, if crooked, is a traitor to the Republican party. No man can be disloyal to a public trust without first being disloyal to the Republican party. I hang my head in shame that these things have been—not a party shame, but an American shame," he continued.

While it is true that Missouri Republicans hold decided preference for Dawes—or Hughes, if his name should be presented to the convention—the talk in hotel lobbies from those who profess to have inside information is to the effect that Hoover has the best chance for the nomination, at this time. The Hoover stuff, however, has a troublesome "if" in the mixture—Hoover will be nominated "if," for instance, Andrew Mellon is for him, etc., all of which tends to lower the Hoover stock.

* * *

The statement given out the day before the convention by Charley Faust declining to become a candidate for United States Senator caused a lot of buzzing around this political plum and several incipient candidacies were put under way. There continues to be a strong demand that Governor Hyde get into the race, but he doesn't seem to be minded to recede from the position he took at the Lincoln Day banquet at Jefferson City. Jim Finch made a lot of friends at the convention and his name was coupled with the senatorship by leaders from all parts of the state. It is a fairly good bet that he may get into the race.

Judge Caulfield, who is at this time the leading candidate for the nomination for governor, was in attendance at the convention and was busy getting acquainted with the delegates and visitors. He has a fine record in the public service as well as in his private life and his friends are enthusiastic in predicting his nomination and election.

The Campaign Log

March 27
By United Press

The Missouri state Republican convention endorsed the candidacy of Frank O. Lowden for the Republican nomination but sent its seven delegates at-large to the Republican national convention without instructions.

Senator M. M. Heely, Democrat, West Virginia, on the floor of the Senate charged Herbert Hoover had dodged the issue in answering the prohibition questionnaire of Senator Borah.

Frank O. Lowden and Speaker of the House Nicholas Longworth both were lauded as possible Republican Presidential candidates on the floor of the House of Representatives.

District delegate petitions for the Republican Presidential candidacy of Frank O. Lowden have been filed in New Jersey.

Senator James A. Reed of Missouri in a speech at Chapel Hill, N. C., pleaded for the nation to turn from "corruption in the government.

Peter McDonough, California leader, said the California Republican delegation would be for Herbert Hoover at the national convention.

THE "CANARY" MURDER CASE

© Charles Scribner's Sons

By S. S. VAN DINE AUTHOR of THE BENSON MURDER CASE

CHARACTERS

PHILO VANCE
JOHN F.-X. MARKHAM, District Attorney of New York City.
MARGARET ODELL (THE "CANARY")
CHARLES CLEAVER, a man about-town
KENNETH SPOTSWOODE, a manufacturer
LOUIS MANNIX, an importer
DR. AMBROISE LINDQUIST, a fashionable neurologist
TONY SKEEL, a professional burglar
WILLIAM ELMER JESSUP, telephone operator
HARRY SPIVELY, telephone operator
ERNEST HEATH, Sergeant of the Homicide Bureau

THE STORY THUS FAR

Vance believes Skeel innocent of the murder of Margaret Odell and that he lay hidden in a closet while the strangler did his work. Markham ridicules the theory but Vance is unshaken. He shatters Cleaver's alibi of being out of the city the night of the murder, and Mannix, under pressure, reveals that he had been calling on a Miss Frisbee, who occupied the apartment adjoining the "Canary's." At five minutes to 12, he says, he saw Cleaver sneaking out of the side door of the building—out of the door which was thought to have been bolted on the inside all night.

CHAPTER 35

Markham sat glowering into space.

"I don't like the Cleaver end of this affair," he said. There's been something damned wrong about him ever since Monday.

"And I say," put in Vance, "doesn't the gentleman's false alibi take on a certain shady significance now, what?

"You apprehend, I trust, why I restrained you from questioning him about it at the club yesterday. I rather fancied that if you could get Mannix to pour out his heart to you, you'd be in a stronger position to draw a few admission from Cleaver. And behold! Again the triumph of intuition! With what you know about him, you can chivvy him most unconscionably—eh, what?"

"And that's precisely what I'm going to do." Markham rang for Swacker. "Get hold of Charles Cleaver," he ordered irritably. "Phone him at the Stuyvesant Club and also his home—he lives round the corner from the club in West 27th Street. And tell him I want him to be here in half an hour, or I'll send a couple of detectives to bring him in handcuffs."

For five minutes Markham stood before the window, smoking agitatedly, while Vance, with a smile of amusement, busied himself with The Wall Street Journal. Heath got himself a drink of water and took a turn up and down the room. Presently Swacker returned.

"Sorry, Chief, but there's nothing doing. Cleaver's gone into the country somewhere. Won't be back till late tonight.

"Hell! . . . All-right—that'll do." Markham turned to Heath. "You have Cleaver rounded up tonight, Sergeant, and bring him in here tomorrow morning at nine."

"He'll be here, sir!" Heath paused in his pacing and faced Markham. "I've been thinking, sir; and there's one thing that keeps coming up in my mind, so to speak. You remember that black document-box that was setting on the living-room table? It was empty; and what a woman generally keeps in that kind of a box is letters and things like that.

"Well, now, here's what's been bothering me; that box wasn't jimmied open—it was unlocked with a key. And, anyway, a professional crook don't take letters and documents . . . . You see what I mean, sir?"

"Sergeant of mine!" exclaimed Vance. "I abase myself before you! I sit at your feet! . . . . The document-box—the tidily opened, empty document box! Of course! Skeel didn't open it—never in this world! That was the others chap's handi work."

"What was in your mind about that box, Sergeant?" asked Markham.

"Just this, sir. As Mr. Vance has insisted right along, there mighta been some one besides Skeel in that apartment during the night. And you told me that Cleaver admitted to you he'd paid Odell a lot of money last June to get back his letters. But suppose he never paid that money; suppose he went there Monday night and took those letters. Wouldn't he have told you just the story he did about buying 'em back? Maybe that's how Mannix happened to see him there."

"That's not unreasonable," Markham acknowledged. "But where does it lead us?"

"Well, sir, if Cleaver did take 'em Monday night, he mighta held on to 'em. And if any of those letters were dated later than last June, when he says he bought 'em back, then we'd have the goods on him."

"Well?"

"As I say, sir, I've been thinking. . . . Now, Cleaver is outa town today; and if we could get hold of those letters. . . ."

"It might prove helpful, of course," said Markham coolly, looking the sergeant straight in the eye. "But such a thing is quite out of the question."

"Still and all," mumbled Heath, "Cleaver's been pulling a lot of raw stuff on you, sir."

(Saturday, September 15; 9 a. m.)

The next morning Markham and Vance and I breakfasted together at the Prince George, and arrived at the district attorney's office a few minutes past nine. Heath, with Cleaver in tow, was waiting in the reception room.

To judge by Cleaver's manner as he entered, the sergeant had been none too considerate of him. He strode belligerently to the district attorney's desk and fixed a cool, resentful eye on Markham.

"Am I, by any chance, under arrest?" he demanded softly, but it was the rasping, suppressed softness of wrathful indignation.

"Not yet," said Markham curtly. "But if you were, you'd have only yourself to blame.—Sit down."

Cleaver hesitated, and took the nearest chair.

"Why was I routed out of bed at seven-thirty by this detective of yours"—he jerked his thumb toward Heath—"and threatened with patrol-wagons and warrants because I objected to such high-handed and illegal methods?"

"You were merely threatened with legal procedure if you refused to accept my invitation voluntarily. This is my short day at the office; and there was some explaining I wanted from you without delay."

"I'm damned if I'll explain anything to you under these conditions!" For all his nerveless poise, Cleaver was finding it difficult to control himself.

"I'm no pickpocket that you can drag in here when it suits your convenience and put through a third degree."

"That's eminently satisfactory to me." Markham spoke omniniusly. "But since you refuse to do your explaining as a free citizen, I have no other course than to alter your present status."

He turned to Heath. "Sergeant, go across the hall and have Ben swear out a warrant for Charles Cleaver. Then lock this gentleman up."

Cleaver gave a start, and caught his breath sibilantly.

"On what charge?" he demanded.

"The murder of Margaret Odell."

The man sprang to his feet. The color had gone from his face; and the muscles of his jowls worked spasmodically.

"Wait! You're giving me a raw deal. And you'll lose out, too. You couldn't make that charge stick in a thousand years."

"Maybe not. But if you don't want to talk here, I'll make you talk in court."

"I'll talk here." Cleaver sat down again. "What do you want to know?"

Markham took out a cigar and lit it with deliberation.

"First: why did you tell me you were in Boonton Monday night?"

Cleaver apparently had expected the question.

"When I read of the Canary's death I wanted an alibi; and my brother had just given me the summons he'd been handed in Boonton. It was a ready-made alibi right in my hand. So I used it."

"Why did you need an alibi?"

"I didn't need it; but I thought it might save me trouble. People knew I'd been running round with the Odell girl; and some of them knew she'd been blackmailing me—I'd told 'em like a damn fool. I told Mannix, for instance. We'd both been stung."

"Is that your only reason for concocting this alibi?" Markham was watching him sharply.

"Wasn't it reason enough? Blackmail would have constituted a motive, wouldn't it?"

"It takes more than a motive to arouse unpleasant suspicion."

"Maybe so. Only I didn't want to be drawn into it.—You can't blame me for trying to keep clear of it."

Markham leaned over with a threatening smile.

"The fact that Miss Odell had blackmailed you wasn't your only reason for lying about the summons. It wasn't even your main reason."

Cleaver's eyes narrowed, but otherwise he was like a graven image.

"You evidently know more about it than I do. He managed to make his words sound casual.

"Not more, Mr. Cleaver," Markham corrected him, "but nearly as much.—Where were you between eleven o'clock and midnight Monday?"

"Perhaps that's one of the things you know."

"You're right.—You were in Miss Odell's apartment."

Cleaver sneered, but he did not succeed in disguising the shock that Markham's accusation caused him.

"If that's what you think, then it happens you don't know, after all. I haven't put foot in her apartment for two weeks."

"I have the testimony of reliable witnesses to the contrary."

"Witnesses!" The word seemed to force itself from Cleaver's compressed lips.

Markham nodded. "You were seen coming out of Miss Odell's apartment and leaving the house by the side door at five minutes to twelve on Monday night."

Cleaver's jaw sagged slightly, and his labored breathing was quite audible.

"And between half past eleven and twelve o'clock," pursued Markham's relentless voice, "Miss Odell was strangled and robbed.—What do you say to that?"

Harl Swank Barn at Graham Burns Sunday

Maryville Attorneys Transact Business at Graham.—Special Services at Presbyterian Church.

(By Ladies Guild)

GRAHAM.—The barn on the Harl Swank place was completely destroyed by fire Sunday afternoon.

Several Maryville attorneys were business callers in Graham last week. Judge and Mrs. J. F. Robertson were here Thursday. G. P. Wright, prosecuting attorney, L. C. Cook and Sheriff L. B. Campbell were here Friday and W. A. Blagg and A. F. Harvey were here the next day.

A series of special services will be held at the Graham Presbyterian Church beginning Thursday night and ending Sunday night. These services will be inspirational and evangelistic in character and will conclude with a communion service. They will be conducted by the Rev. Kenneth Anderson of Oregon, who is moderator of this church while it is without a pastor. There will also be special music at each service. Everyone is invited and all will be welcome.

The union prayer meeting will be held at the Methodist church Wednesday night. The Rev. Ralph Hicks is the leader.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kyle entertained at supper Friday evening a number of friends in honor of the birthdays of Walter Bussell and Miss Rachel Elizabeth Kyle. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Leeper and Marvin Heidbrink, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Leeper and daughter Florence, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Davis, Dr. and Mrs. Henry Campbell, Mrs. Elizabeth Sperling and Miss Nettie Sperling, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Shull and family, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Long, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bussell, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kettering, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Morris and family, Misses Grace, Sylvia and Beatrice Mowry, Miss Ethel Bear, Miss Grace Morris, Lawrence Lattin, Wm. Newton, Clarence Leeper, jr., James Sperling and Cecil Campbell.

The evening was spent in visiting and all wished the honor guests many more happy birthdays.

Tom McKee of the John Clay Livestock Commission of St. Joseph was looking after business interests of his firm in this community Saturday.

Misses Grace Morris and Ruby Parman were shopping in St. Joseph Saturday.

Misses Bernice Snelling, Flora Scheffsky and Marjorie Bennett were Maryville visitors Saturday afternoon.

Influenza Prevalent in Guilford Vicinity

Cases of Mumps and Chickenpox Also Reported—Debate to Be Held at Pleasant View School.

GUILFORD—An epidemic of influenza has been raging over this and adjoining neighborhoods. Fever, sore eyes, aching limbs and headaches are the general symptoms and while not of a serious nature it seems to knock one out completely for several days. The doctors are quite busy as a result. A few cases of mumps and chicken pox are also reported in this locality.

Miss Bernice Campbell is recovering from the mumps.

Funeral services were held at Guilford Thursday morning at 10 o'clock for the infant son of Boyd McMackin.

The funeral services for two of Guilford's old time residents were held this last week. That of J. W. Coroe was held Thursday afternoon at 2 p. m. at the Methodist Church and the funeral of R. H. Campbell was held Friday afternoon at 2 p. m. at the same church. The Rev. E. L. Rutledge conducted both services.

Mr. and Mrs. John Graves and Pope Graves and Mr. and Mrs. John Donaldson, of Maryville attended the R. H Campbell funeral Friday afternoon.

A nice shower of rain fell here Saturday evening. It, together with the continued warm weather, will make grass, wheat, oats and gardens grow. Quite a little more is needed, however, to benefit crops very much.

A debate in the good English class of the 6th and 7th grades at Pleasant View school will be given Monday. Resolved: "That outdoor games are more enjoyable than indoor games," is the subject; affirmative: Mary Mildred McManus, Gerald McManus, Negative: Leonard Martin, Eldon McGeorge.

J. W. Corcoran's 65th Birthday Is Observed

Basket Dinner Held in Honor of Conception Junction Man.—Monastery Sets Out Apple Orchard.

CONCEPTION JUNCTION. — As Sunday was the sixty-fifth birthday of J. W. Corcoran, his daughters and their families gave a basket dinner at his home in Conception Junction in his honor. Dinner was served at 12:30 and in the afternoon several pictures of the family group were taken. Those present were Mrs. S. E. Savage, Janice, Billy and S. E., Jr.; Mrs. Maurice Egan, Donald, Robert and Mary Corrinne; Mr. and Mrs. W. B. McManus, Gerald, Mary Mildred, Lorena, Lawrence and Helen; Mr. and Mrs. John E. Brady, Edmund Eileen, Stella Marie, Gertrude, Rosalie Lucille and John Donald; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Archer, Jos. Leish, Joseph, Jr., and Francis, Miss Lizzie Driar.

Mrs. S. E. Savage was shopping in St. Joseph Thursday.

Ernest Edward the little son of Ernest Mattson, who has been quite sick with pneumonia, is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Hildebrant will leave Conception Junction April 1 for their new home in California.

Albert Felix and Jim Graham have opened a new drug store at Emmettsburg, Ia.

A number of fires over the country the last week or so indicate that the farmers are burning stalks—a good way to get rid of the stalks but not so good on the ground.

The Monastery set out a few acres of apple orchard last week. The new orchard is southwest of the Monastery.

A new Standard oil tank for high and low test gasoline was being installed at the Derk's garage last week.

O. R. Proctor sold a Formal tractor and equipment to George Swinford Thursday.

No school was held at Conception College Wednesday, St. Benedict's day.

Philip Growney, Jr., was a St. Joseph visitor Thursday.

To Vote on Community Building.

Cassville.—At the request of the Commercial Club, the city council here has called an election April 3, at which time an $18,000 bond issue for the purpose of erecting a community building will be submitted.

THE RIGHT WAY TO BANISH FAT

Combat a cause which modern research has discovered. Turn food into fuel and energy, rather than into fat. Supply a natural element which your system lacks. That is the method embodied in Marmola prescription tablets.

People have used Marmola for 20 years—millions of boxes of it. They have told others the results. Now, in almost every circle, you can see the results in new beauty and new vim. Why not learn the way to attain them?

A book in each box of Marmola tells you the formula, also the reasons for results. You will know why the effects come, and why they are beneficial. Go ask your druggist—in fairness to yourself—for a $1 box of Marmola.

A Hint For You

White Cloud, Kans. — "I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription during the critical period of life when doctors did me no good. I got five bottles of the 'Prescription' and I feel it saved my life. I also took three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for stomach trouble and nervousness, together with the 'Pleasant Pellets,' and was permanently relieved. I don't think Dr. Pierce's medicines can be beat for I know they saved my life. I feel that if others would take them they would be saved lots of money." —Mrs. A. D. Smith.

LEGAL NOTICES 51

(1st ins. March 17; last April 2).

NOTICE OF ANNUAL SCHOOL MEETING.

In compliance with Section 11,251, Revised Statutes of 1919, of the state of Missouri, notice is hereby given to the qualified voters of school district No. 97, county of Nodaway and state of Missouri, being the Maryville Public School District, that the annual school meeting of said school district will be held at the city hall, the same being located in the basement of the Carnegie Library Building at the corner of Second and Buchanan Streets in Maryville, Missouri, on Tuesday the 3rd day of April, 1928, commencing at 7 o'clock A. M. and closing at 6 P. M. of that day and among other things specified by law the following will be proposed and considered: First, the election of two directors for the term of three years each. Second, the election of one director for the period of one year. Third, a proposition to increase the rate of taxation for the maintainance of school and school purposes, six mills on one dollar for the assessed value of the district in addition to the four mills authorized by law.

To vote on the proposition to detach and take from School District No. 82 of said County, lands described as the South ten acres of the Southeast Quarter of the Northwest Quarter of Section Sixteen (16), in Township Sixty-four (64), of Range Thirty-five (35), in said Nodaway County, and attach said lands to and make the same a part of said School District of Maryville, and change the boundary lines between said school districts accordingly.

By order of the Board of Directors.
R. P. HOSMER, President.
GEORGE P. WRIGHT, Secretary.

Cattle Are Steady; Hogs, Lambs Lower

Kansas City Stock Yards, March 27.—Trade in fat cattle opened slowly but later became fairly active. The better classes were fully steady, but the plain kinds were weak. Some 1519 pound steers brought $13.75, and other strong and heavy weights $13 to $13.25. Choice heifers sold up to $12.75. Stockers and feeders were steady at last week's decline. Hog prices ruled 10 cents under Friday and 25 cents under the new high point last week. Trade was active at the decline. Wool lambs reached a new high position for the year last week, but broke 25 to 50 cents today. Wool lambs brought $16.55 and Arizona spring lambs $18.

Monday's Receipts.

Receipts Monday were 12,500 cattle, 17,000 hogs and 16,000 sheep, compared with 11,000 cattle, 8,000 hogs and 5,000 sheep a week ago, and 13,725 cattle, 17,075 hogs and 6,875 sheep a year ago.

Beef Cattle.

Killers were inclined to place lower bids at the outset of the trade today, but the supply of fat steers turned out to be smaller than anticipated and the general market developed a steady tone. In some instances the plainer classes remained weak. Total cattle receipts were larger than a week ago, but the per cent of fat steers was smaller, the difference being made up in butcher grades and stockers and feeders. Some choice 1519 pound steers, the heaviest here for some time, brought $13.75. Other good to choice steers, weights ranging from 1050 up, brought $12.50 to $13.50. Common and ordinary steers brought $10 to $11.50. Cows and heifers were fully steady. Choice heifers sold up to $12.75 and good heifers brought $11.50 to $12.25. Choice cows brought $10 to $10.50. Calves were steady with best at $12 to $12.50.

Stockers and Feeders.

Receipts of stockers and feeders were fairly liberal. Prices were steady with last week's close, but 25 to 40 cents lower than a week ago. Feeders sold slowly, but demand for choice light weight stockers continues active. Some 50 pound stockers brought $13.25. The bulk of stockers and feeders sold at $11 to $12.

Hogs.

The hog market after reaching the high point of the season the middle of last week, has taken a 25 cent slump and Monday prices were only 5 to 10 cents above the low point of the year. Receipts were liberal at all markets and show no indications of any material decrease in the near future. The 160 to 230 pound grades are bringing $7.85 to $8.05; 140 to 160 pounds $7.65 to $7.80; 230 to 300 lbs $7.60 to $7.90; packing sows $6.25 to $7 and stock hogs and pigs $6.50 to $7.25.

Sheep and Lambs.

Lamb prices broke 25 to 50 cents from the high point of last week. Not enough sheep arrived to test values. Fed lambs sold at 16 to $16.55. Shorn lambs are quoted at $13 to $13.75. A large bunch of Arizona spring lambs brought $18.

Horses and Mules.

Unchanged conditions prevailed in the horse and mule market. Demand continues larger than the supply.

Lard steady; midwest spot $11.85 to $11.95.

Raw sugar firm, spot 96, test delivered duty paid $4.55 to $4.58, refined firm; granulated $5.80 to $5.85.

Coffee, Rio 7s on spot 16¼; Santos 4s 22 to 22½.

Tallow firm, special to extra 8 3-8 to 8½.

Hay, barely steady; No. 1 $1.10; No. 3, 75c to 95c; clover 80c to $1.00.

Dressed poultry steady, turkeys 45; chickens 18 to 45; broilers 35 to 55; capons 30 to 48; fowls 18 to 31; ducks 15 to 20; Long Island 17 to 21.

Live poultry, steady; geese 14 to 16; ducks 15 to 28; fowls 30 to 33; turkeys 25 to 50; roosters 16; chickens 22 to 23; capons 28 to 50; broilers 40 to 50.

Cheese firm, state whole milk, fancy to specials 29 to 29½; young Americas 30 to 31½.

Butter firm, receipts 11,937; creamery extras 49 cents; special market 49¼ to 50c.

Eggs steady; receipts 62,692; nearby white fancy 36 to 38c; state white 28 to 35c; fresh firsts 28c to 29c; Pacific coasts 29 to 37¼c; western whites 29 to 32c; nearby browns 29 to 37c.

DAILY MARKET REPORT

SOUTH ST. JOSEPH LIVESTOCK.

South St. Joseph, Mo., Mar. 27.—Hogs 6,000; around steady; top $8; bulk 180-270 pound weights, $7.65 to $8; sows steady.

Cattle 1,600; calves 200; fed steers strong to 25c up; yearlings steady to strong; vealers 50c to $1 lower; other killing classes unchanged; stockers and feeders firm; bulk steers and yearlings $11.25 to $12.75.

Sheep 7,500; lambs strong to 15c up; top fed westerns $14.40; Arizona springers, $18.25; ewes firm.

Final Grain Review.

Chicago, March 27.—After declining sharply during the morning hours, grain futures rallied on the board of trade today and the close came while all prices were climbing. Wheat led the upturn, finishing above the previous close caught them with slight losses.

Final figures:

Wheat: ¼ lower, ¼ higher; corn ⅜ to ½ cent lower and oats ⅛ to ¼ lower. Provisions closed slightly lower. Technical pit conditions were mainly responsible for the rally.

Rain and snow over the belt sent all corn futures higher yesterday, on the expectation that roads would be made impassable and the country movement checked. The country cold weather, however, turned sentiment the other way and bulls liquidated heavily. Support was entirely inadequate, buyers going cautiously. Receipts were moderate at 130 cars but the cash market slumped another ½ to 1 cent.

The weakness in corn, combined with more favorable dispatches from southwest winter wheat areas, took support and interest from the wheat pit. Export business was at a standstill and Liverpool futures failed to follow yesterday's advance here. Receipts here were heavy at 147 cars but the cash market held steady.

Oats was fundamentally strengthened by the rain and snow which tends to hold up seeding. Weakness in other grains, however, offset this influence. Receipts were 20 cars and the cash market dropped ¼c.

John B. Mustain Dies at Yuma, Col., Sunday

Pioneer Citizen of County Formerly Lived Near Wilcox.—Daughter Mrs. Andy Fink.

John B. Mustain, age 85, of Yuma, Colo., father of Mrs. Andy Fink of Wilcox, died at his home at Yuma at 9 o'clock Sunday morning, according to word received by Mrs. Fink. He had been suffering with influenza.

Mr. Mustain had been a pioneer resident of Nodaway county, having settled on a farm a mile and three-quarters northeast of Wilcox in 1869, and he lived in the county until 1925.

The funeral and burial will be at Yuma. Mrs. Fink will be unable to attend the services. She returned from Yuma in February, having been called there by the illness of her mother.

Mr. Fink was born at Blandinsville, Ill., January 21, 1843. He lived on a farm near Wilcox from 1869 until about ten years ago when he moved to a farm near Pickering and moved to his present home in June, 1925.

He is survived by his widow and one daughter, Mrs. Andy Fink of Wilcox; three sons, Edward Mustain, Otis, Col.; Luther Mustain, Yuma, Col.; and William Mustain, Independence, Kan.; and two sisters, Mrs. Gilly Pugh, Redlands, Cal; and Mrs. Ada Brakey, Blandinsville, Ill.

Attend Funeral of Mrs. Maggie Brown

Several Nodaway County Relatives at Rites in Illinois for Former Maryville Woman.

Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Bainum returned this morning from Pecatonica, Ill., where they attended the funeral services of Mr. Bainum's sister, Mrs. Maggie Hanna Brown, who died last Thursday. Other Nodaway County relatives at the funeral of Mrs. Brown were J. F. Hanna of Pickering, Mrs. Addie Risser and Otto Risser, Parnell.

Mr. and Mrs. Bainum had been with Mrs. Brown for the last two weeks. The funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at Pecatonica.

Maggie Hanna Brown was born in Center County, Pa., April 14, 1846. Her family moved to near Maryville ta an early date. Her marriage to William W. Brown, late of Co. D, 46th Regiment, Illinois Volunteers, was solemnized at Beatrice, Neb., on September 12, 1883. Following a short residence in Nebraska and Iowa, they removed to Ridott, Ill., where they resided on a farm for many years. In 1914 they removed to Pecatonia. Her husband died June 13, 1916.

Mrs. Brown is survived by three sisters and six brothers: Mrs. Marietta Pistole, Albert S. Hanna and James F. Hanna, Pickering; Mrs. Bainum, Effie E. Hanna, Wm. D. Hanna, Maryville; George N. Hanna, Anaconda, Mont.; Charles O. Hanna, Burbank, Cal.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Dunncan announce the birth of a son, Allen George, at their home in Elmo, yesterday.

Republicans State Views in Resolutions at State Meeting

Convention Hall, St. Joseph, Mo., March 27.—The resolutions adopted by the Republican state convention yesterday follow:

We, the delegates chosen by those members of the great national Republican party who live in the state of Missouri, and who are assembled in convention at St. Joseph, Mo., on this 26th day of March, 1928, reaffirm our belief in and our attachment to the time-honored principles of our beloved party, and our reverence and devotion to its splendid leaders.

The party of Lincoln, Roosevelt and Coolidge, cannot perish so long as their lives and the principles which they exemplify are remembered among men. The purpose of our convention could not well be satisfied without brief reference to the principles for which we stand and to the work and public service of our standard bearers and without some reference to the problems which are pressing themselves upon the attention of our people.

We have in our political system a government of the United States and government of each of the several states. Each one of these governments is distinct from the others, and each has citizens of its own whose rights within its jurisdiction it must protect. The powers possessed by the government of the United States are not possessed by the states and the powers reserved to the states are not possessed by the government of the United States. They are used for different purposes in separate jurisdictions.

Together they make one whole, and furnishes the people of the United States with a complete government, ample for all of their rights at home and abroad.

Respect Rights of States.

The United States of America is a nation and it is not a confederacy or a league. It belongs to the people of the United States; it is the duty of the states to assert and maintain the right and powers reserved to them under the Constitution of the United States and it is the duty of the United States to observe and respect the reserved rights of the several states. This declaration of principle is re-stated at this time so as to define clearly the position which our party has always taken on this subject and for the further purpose of meeting clearly any political issue which may be advanced by the Democratic party. The leaders of that party are indulging and have indulged in much loose talk on this question, and their party platforms have contained vague and indefinite statements which are calculated and are intended to confuse the public mind on this question. We welcome this issue and a full and frank discussion of it before the people.

It is a well known fact that President Coolidge has consistently urged the states to assert and assume their prerogatives of local self government and that his administration has been actively and successfully engaged in cutting down and weeding out many of the departments and bureaus which were saddled upon our national government during the World War.

We strongly urge that this policy continue under the Republican administrations that may follow that the policy of retrenchment; the lowest number of bureaus and departments be always provided for in the policies of the administration at Washington.

Proud of Coolidge.

At our state convention which met at Springfield, Mo., the 29th day of April, 1924, we adopted the following plan with respect to our candidate for President, Calvin Coolidge:

"Doubts and fears for the nation gave way to confidence and faith when it realized that there was one prepared and ready to assume the duties which had been laid down by Harding. Every act of President Coolidge has stamped him as a safe, sound and patriotic leader. He has scorned evasion and has met squarely every public question that has arisen for solution without thought of political expediency.

There is no insincerity or hypocrisy in President Coolidge. Accepting him at his true worth, the American people will elect him President of the United States.

All our hopes and aspirations and our belief and faith in the character and ability of Calvin Coolidge has been fully realized by the performances of our national administration under the leadership of Calvin Coolidge.

The Republicans of Missouri are justly proud of the character and achievements of their governor, Sam A. Baker. He has shown a splendid equipment for public service and his record for fearlessness and conscientious action has appealed to the citizens of our state regardless of party affiliations. We take pride in the economical and progressive administration of our state government under the leadership of Governor Baker and indorse the stand taken by him and those associated with him in authority for more adequate support of our school system and the inauguration and execution of their great program for good roads. We heartily indorse the administration of Governor Baker and the Republican state officers who have been associated with him in advancing the best interests of the people of our state.

"Traitors Denounced."

The great rank and file of the Republicans of the United States, the men and women who composed our party, the sons and daughters of those who fought to save and preserve this nation, resent with bitter resentment the acts of those in high places who have been traitors to public trust and it is with just as bitter resentment we challenge the attacks of the Democrats upon our purpose and our patriotism. The effects of the disclosures of the acts of these recreant public officers will be to bring us into closer union than we have ever been before. And as a united party, inspired with great responsibility, we will continue our patriotic duty to our country and our government.

We commend President Coolidge and the department of justice for their untiring efforts to eliminate and punish those who have been guilty of misconduct in public office.

On the 11th day of June, 1924, the delegates of the Republican party in national convention, met at Cleveland, O., and adopted a platform. In that platform the following pledge was written:

For Agricultural Equality.

"The Republican party pledges itself to the development and enactment of measures which will place the agricultural interests of America on a basis of economic equality with other industries to insure its prosperity and success."

The Republican party is charged with the great responsibility of running the government of the United States, and has had that responsibility, with two interruptions, for the last sixty-eight years of our national existence. That responsibility involves and contemplates the development of our western civilization. Constructive statesmanship may properly indulge in the memories of a splendid past, but must be concerned, also, about the future, what kind of a country are we developing for our children and our children's children.

The Republican party, through legislation and through the application of the policy of the protection, has done much for the development and growth of American interests and American labor. We believe it is the duty of the government to have a comprehension of and to care for every interest that affects our economic relationships. The farming industry of the United States is the greatest of these interests. It must be included in the national program of protection or the whole structure falls. Our pledge to the American farmers must be carried out in good faith. And any laws that may be passed must be executed by one who is known to be in sympathy with such laws and one who is known to have an intelligent understanding of the purpose and genius of such legislation. The Republican party is fortunate today as it has always been in every great emergency in having Honorable Frank O. Lowden of Illinois as a man who by character, ability and understanding of all of the great problems which affect American life is peculiarly fitted to carry out this purpose and function of government, and we heartily indorse his candidacy for the presidency of the United States and commend it to the delegates who shall be selected at this convention.

We recommend and strongly urge an honest, fair and comprehensive redistricting of the state of Missouri into senatorial subdivisions to the end that the will of the people of the state, as expressed at the polls, may be reflected in the upper house of the general assembly.

Resolved that the distinguished services of Dr. E. B. Clements and Mrs. Grace Semple Burlingham as national committeeman and committeewoman of Missouri entitle them to renewed confidence and we hereby instruct the delegates and alternates selected by this convention to vote for their re-election.

Rising Temperatures May Bring Showers

Weather to Moderate in Missouri, While Cold Wave Moves on to South, Causing Frosts.

Kansas City, Mo., March 27.—Rising temperatures this afternoon and tomorrow may bring showers in the Missouri area, according to the weather forecaster. The weather will moderate today and tomorrow and an unsettled condition may develop.

Last night's minimum temperature was 27 degrees.

Washington, March 27.—Frosts tonight as far south as northern Florida and interior Alabama were predicted by the weather bureau today.

A north Atlantic disturbance caused gales along the Atlantic seaboard, and thunderstorms from the southern lake region to the Gulf of Mexico and Southern Atlantic States today. Temperatures fell decidedly from the Missouri Valley to the Appalachians.

Generally fair weather is predicted for tonight and tomorrow for eastern United States.

That thirteen-month year will not be longer; it will only seem longer.
